And What Have You

By BOB CRAIG

With the new session of Congress already underway (but not really doing much until the new administration takes over Jan. 20) and the Texas Legislature planning to start Tuesday, it may be a full time job just trying to keep up with what they are doing to us taxpayers.

From all indications it is still too early to tell the trend of the new administration in Washington and how the Congress will react but it appears that there will be a slow-down in spending, at least at first.

But on the state scene, it appears that there will be nothing but bad news for taxpayers as far as spending goes. The state is faced with the need to spend more and more money on a great variety of programs such as education and a large teacher's pay raise, a water program and increased welfare programs.

The most controversial will probably be the education program and the most expensive for now, will be the teacher's pay raise.

It is not known at this time if there will be a need for another major increase in state taxes but it will be surprising if this is not the case before the session ends.

Governor-elect Preston Smith is one of those who hopes to avoid an increase in taxes this year, thinking that the spending can be held to current income. But most state capital observers are not sure that this is possible.

With the teachers seeking a $200 million pay raise it will be hard to come up with this and much else without more taxes.

Whether we like it or not this appears to be that time again when as taxpayers we can only sit back and wonder what our elected officials will do to us next. But we must try to remember that for the most part they are only giving us what we are asking for.

We ran across the following editorial that points up the problem we have as a nation keeping things in their right proportion.

"All Americans were relieved to see the crew (except for one deceased patriot) of the Pueblo returned from North Korea. Yet this incident brings to mind the fact that often--in this relatively new country of ours--we lose a sense of proportion.

"Pueblo crewmen were undoubtedly mistreated by their Communist captors. Yet all but one returned after less than a year of imprisonment. This contrasts somewhat strikingly with the ordeal of Americans in Vietnam. There, each week, hundreds die in combat with North Vietnamese Communists. Those who survive, to be returned to their country, receive no such fanfare, speech-making and official recognition as did crewmen of the Pueblo.

"While no one begrudges Pueblo crewmen their welcome, at which the Governor of California, the mayor of the city in which they landed and federal officials spoke, all of which was televised nationally, it was out of proportion compared to the reception given so many veterans, many wounded, returning from a long, grim war in Vietnam.

"The Pueblo and its crew are unique. The ship is one of the few U.S. Navy ships to surrender without more spirited opposition in the history of the nation. Blunders on a higher level compounded the incident and allowed the Communists to seize the spy ship without having to face U.S. ships or planes coming to the Pueblo's rescue. Thus the incident was not a happy one, from any current or historical standpoint."

This is only one of the many times that we seem to lose all sense of proportion. How often do we pass up chances to help in needy and worthwhile causes to go out of our way to aid with the more highly publicized pleas for help.

Vandals Cause $2000 Damage Here Sunday

Vandals were busy at work in Hamlin Sunday night, says Police Chief Bryan Wasson. Tires were slashed on five trucks and three cars, he said. Value of the destroyed property was estimated at $2,000.

The first report to the Police Department was at 10:30 p.m. Sunday.

Two adults and two juveniles have been questioned by the Police. One juvenile has not yet been located, the Chief noted.

Charges of Destruction of Private property will be filed with County Attorney A. J. Smith. Juvenile delinquency petitions will be filed with County Juvenile Judge Leon Thurman on the other three.

The names of the two adults will be released after formal charges are filed. A lengthy two day investigation was conducted by the Police Department.

Playing in Merkel Tuesday night both the Pipers and Piperettes evened up their district record -- the boys by winning and the girls by losing. The Pipers downed the Badgers 71-57 and the Piperettes lost, 37-33.

The boys are now 2-2 and the girls 1-1 in conference action.

Pros, Cons On School Changes Given Here

Over 125 area people attended the meeting on the Report of the Governor's Committee on Public School Education held in the high school cafeteria here Monday night. The meeting was sponsored by the local Landowners Association.

Jones County School Superintendent Everett Beaver, introduced by J. C. Turner, Association president, gave the pros and cons of the controversial reorganization plan for public education in Texas.

Joining Mr. Beaver in the question and answer session to follow and giving their views on the subject were State Representative Frank C. Calhoun and Grant Jones. Also joining in on the comments was Charles Stenholm of Stamford, representing the Landowners Association of Stamford.

In opening his remarks on the school report, Mr. Beaver said, "this was the most important piece of legislation you have faced in a long time."

Before going into the details of the report he gave a brief background on the formation of the committee giving the names, occupation and residency of each of the 15 members, most of whom were from the larger cities of the state and most were from the southern half of Texas.

Mr. Beaver said that he had only one fault with the committee's report and their presentation of their material and that was that it gave only the positive side and did not give any of the disadvantages. He added that in his presentation he would try to present both the pros and the cons of the issue and be fair and objective in his approach.

Mr. Beaver broke the report down into seven sections and took each section one at a time.

The first section deals in redefining the present school laws of the state. In his presentation the County Superintendent pointed out that the intent was to just bring order and understanding to the present laws, but it was rumored through the "grapevine" that a number of changes had been made in the school laws. But, he pointed out that this was only a rumor and that he had not seen the new laws as they will be presented to the legislature.

Reorganization

The second section, and probably the most controversial one, deals with reorganization of school districts. This in the case of Jones County would mean one district in the county but, as was pointed out later by Rep. Grant Jones, would not necessarily mean one high school or set any limit on the number of schools within the district.

The consolidation would be done by the State Board of Education with the advice of five county citizens.

Mr. Beaver listed these advantages of the consolidation based on the assumption of one high school: specialized teachers, more and varied courses and more opportunities for both the slower student and the gifted student. At the same time he pointed out these disadvantages: more dropouts, fewer leadership opportunities and the loss of the human element in teaching.

Mr. Beaver added, "I doubt if the product of the larger schools is any better than the product of the smaller schools."

The third part would repeal the County Administration laws and do away with the County School Superintendents and the Educational Centers now being operated and replace them with Regional service centers under control of the State Board of Education.

Beavers pointed out that with bigger organizations usually comes bigger salaries and that he doubted if we would realize much of a saving cost wise.

City Receives $7,938.36 From Sales Taxes

The City of Hamlin received a check from the State Comptroller's office of $7,938.36, according to Mrs. H. M. Barrow, city secretary. This amount represents the City Sales Taxes collected by the state for the third quarter of 1968.

This amount is less the state's fee for collection, the amount held by the state for bad checks and plus the amount held back by the state for the previous quarter.

In commenting on the check, Mrs. Barrow said that it will be nice when the city can use the money for something besides catching up on things the city was behind on.

LAWYER

Runaway Fathers

Irma's two children, living with her in New Jersey, receive regular support payments from their runaway father in California.

Janet's two children, living with her in California, receive regular support payments from their runaway father in New Jersey.

In similar fashion, thousands of families are now getting the benefit of an interstate network of collection procedures. Known as "Runaway Pappy" laws, they have made the long arm of the law a whole lot longer.

The keynote is reciprocity. Each state agrees to act as a collection agency for the citizens of another state, only on condition that the favor is returned. The idea makes such good sense, in dealing with runaway fathers, that it is now in effect — with some variations — in all 50 states.

True, this is not a cure-all for the problem of the family left destitute by a fugitive father. In particular, it doesn't work if the fugitive cannot be found.

But if he is found, and is collectible, the system does work.

The mother goes to a court in her own community and presents her claim for support (for her children or herself). This court relays the claim to a court in the other state, which orders the father to make payments. When he does, the second court sends the money back to the first court, which passes it along to the mother.

What if the father disputes the amount of support he is asked to pay? He has a right to voice his objections at a court hearing. If necessary, the mother can then send in her reply, to be presented on her behalf by a court official. This allows both sides to be "heard" before the court makes its ruling.

But, while the father can challenge the amount of support, he cannot raise entirely new issues. In one case a father, ordered to pay support, retaliated with a petition for divorce. He argued:

"I have as much right to ask her for a divorce by long distance as she has to ask me for support by long distance."

However, the court decided this would be getting outside the scope of the "Runaway Pappy" law. Refusing to hear the father's divorce case, the judge said that under the reciprocal procedure "the only real issue is the duty of support."

Savor Spicy Sausage Snacks

Outside, Jack Frost paints the countryside blazng colors with his magic brush. Inside, we're adjusting to autumn's busy pace: back-to-school schedules and the resumption of club meetings and other social activities.

When you want to serve something especially warming and welcome make Snappy Sausage Pinwheels. Savorly pork sausage is rolled up in tender, subtly flavored corn meal biscuit dough. The rolls can be refrigerated several hours. Then, you, the unhurried hostess, slice and bake the pinwheels at party time. Serve warm or cooled with chilled apple cider and a garnish of sugar-frosted grapes.

SNAPPY SAUSAGE PINWHEELS

Makes 4 1/2 dozen pinwheels

- |                                   |                    |
|-----------------------------------|--------------------|
| 1 lb. pork sausage meat           | 1/2 teaspoon salt  |
| 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour | 1/2 cup shortening |
| 3/4 cup enriched corn meal        | 1/2 cup milk       |
| 1 tablespoon baking powder        | 1 egg yolk         |

Pan-fry pork sausage just until it loses the pink color; drain. Sift together flour, corn meal, baking powder and salt into bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Combine milk and egg yolk. Add to dry ingredients, stirring lightly until mixture is just dampened.

Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas. Knead gently a few times. Divide dough in half. Roll each half to form a 14 x 10-inch rectangle. Using half of the pork sausage for each rectangle, pat out to cover pastry, pressing lightly into dough. Beginning with long side, roll up as for jelly roll. Wrap in aluminum foil and refrigerate at least 1 hour.

Cut into 1/2-inch slices. Place on ungreased cookie sheets. Bake in preheated hot oven (425 F.) 12 to 15 minutes.

School Report—

gram to come under discussion was the proposed teacher pay raises which would raise a teacher with one degree from the present starting salary of $4734 to $5904 after ten years service to a starting salary of $6000 to $8690 after ten years service.

A teacher with a masters would go from the present starting salary of $5040 to $6912 with 16 years service to a start of $6620 to $9560 with ten years service.

Beaver only covered briefly some of the sections of the report such as curriculum enrichment, which includes technical training and advanced courses, volunteer programs, kindergarten and adult education programs. He pointed out that most of these were programs that we need and were not too controversial.

Also included in the report was the recommendation for more teacher aides, to handle more of the non-teaching duties of the teachers, and better trained teachers.

Financing
Before going into the financing plan of the report Beaver gave a brief background of our current method of financing which is the Minimum Foundation Program based on an average cost of 80 percent for the state and 20 percent locally. He pointed out that this does not include buildings and many other expenses paid locally with the districts in Jones County paying on an average of over 50 percent of the school costs.

The new plan would raise the present cost of education at the state level from $900 million to $2.3 billion more at the end of a ten year period.

A much misunderstood part of the financing program would be the method of determining the districts' share of the state money. The plan calls for the equalizing of all of the property in the state on market value and placing a 20 cent factor on this to determine the wealth of the county and its need for state aid. At the present time this is done at the district and the county level and districts with low values receive more state monies than do counties with high values.

These state-wide values would not determine local taxing policies but would only determine the wealth of one county as opposed to another, it was pointed out in the question and answer session. The local district would still determine how they will raise their share of the program and it would be up to the legislature to raise the state's share.

The committee recommendation includes a change in the 80-20 sharing plan now to a 75-25 ratio.

Rep. Jones in his remarks pointed out that education would be the hottest issue facing the legislature when it convenes next Tuesday and that whether the legislature passes the committees report into law or not, the cost of education was going to continue to increase. He added that at the present time 50 percent of the state's money goes for education in one form or another.

Both Rep. Jones and Rep. Calhoun said that the rural legislatures and the rural people are facing a problem with the urban dominated legislature and that this situation was going to get worse instead of better.

Both representatives asked for the views and questions of people in their districts during the coming session.

Rep. Calhoun said that as a "country lawyer" from a small town he knew the problems facing those present and their concern for their local schools and what they mean to the communities.

Neither would predict the fate of the proposed plan in this session of the legislature.

Attending the meeting were citizens from Stamford, Anson, Haskell, Rule, O'Brien, Old Glory, Lueders-Avoca and Hamlin.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Joe Wilson, Mitch and Lesley, Pat, Chris and Greg Perrin, Jim Clifton, John Ferguson, all of Hamlin, Martha Minter of Dallas, and Harry Perrin of Cameron went to Ruidosa, N. Mex., skiing last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy L. Arnoz of Jayton are parents of a boy, Shawn D'wayne, born Dec. 31 at 8 a.m. He weighed 7 lbs. 1 oz.

Mr. and Mrs. David Ray Malone of Anson are parents of a girl, Kathy Lynn, born Jan. 3 at 10:37 a.m. She weighed 6 lbs. 5 oz.

Neinda Philosopher Starts the Year Off By Trying to Adjust to the High Cost of Everything

Editor's note: The Neinda Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Route One gets the new year underway along about the same lines he managed last year, his letter this week indicates. Dear editor:

To get my mind off some December bills that ran a lot higher than I'd figured — I know a nickel tractor bolt now costs a quarter but it takes time to get used to it — I pulled out a newspaper I'd been saving and hadn't read far before I ran into an article that made me feel a little better.

According to it, I'm not the only one having trouble adjusting to high costs. Australia is in the same boat.

Five years ago, it seems, Australia ordered two dozen American jet fighter-bombers at 4 million dollars each. By the time they were ready for delivery the other day the cost was up to 10 million each.

Instead of 96 million dollars, the bill now comes to 240 million, and if you've ever bought anything, makes no difference whether it's a tractor bolt or a fighter-bomber, you know when the bill arrives at two and a half times what you'd figured, you're in no mood to laugh.

KIDNEY DANGER SIGNALS
Getting up nights, burning, frequent or scanty flow, leg or back pains may warn of functional kidney disorders — "Danger Ahead." Give a gentle lift with BUKETS (take only 3 tabs a day for 4 days). Regulate passage, ease aches and pains or your 48c back. NOW at WAGGNER DRUG

The Australians though are going to have to come on in to the modern age. Look at it this way: in 1950 an American farmer could sell 10 calves and buy a new pick-up truck. Today he has to sell 20 calves to buy a pick-up.

The Australians are simply going to have to realize that Seventh grade SRA Achievement and Mental Ability Test results have been received by the Junior High School.

Achievement test results were given to the seventh grade students prior to Christmas. Results of the mental ability tests have been received and will be made available to parents of the students. The information will not be given to individual students, according to Marvin Carlton, principal.

Parents interested in this information should call the principal's office at Junior High School.

while five years ago they could buy a fighter-bomber for say 2 million kangaroos, today it takes 5 million kangaroos. Me and Australia are going to have to raise more calves and kangaroos if we want to hold our own.

Ten years ago a doctor's fee for delivering a baby was $50 to $100. Today it's anywhere from $250 to $1,000.

This is not to say that babies, bolts, or fighter-bombers are worth more today, they just come higher.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

NEWS FROM...

Sylvester

By MRS. R. M. BABB

Beautiful morning but promise of bad weather tonight, however we have been lucky, only one or two bad spells.

Every one has or has had the flu. If you haven't, you are very lucky. The Jim Lanning family are both better, and there are many more that are doing better now.

Mrs. Jack Gann, I guess, likes to have a cast on her ankle and walk on crutches. (I know better Pauline) as she had the cast removed one day, fell and broke the ankle over the next day. She has really had a time with her feet and ankles for some time.

Mrs. Milton Montgomery is in Hamlin Hospital and has been very ill but was better on Sunday. She is in room 27 with Mrs. A. D. Hardy and all of us know her.

Lea Dickerson has returned to the Hamlin Hospital and I think he has just about paid for a room or so he says. However, he was greatly improved when he was visited on Sunday.

Our sympathy to J. D. Josey and the family, every one here knew Ruth well and she shall be missed.

Mr. and Mrs. Pop Williams of Odessa, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Spikes of Abilene were in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kiser over the weekend due to the illness of the girls father, Henry Ward in Holiday Lodge in Hamlin, Saturday afternoon late he was some improved.

Ernest Kiser has returned from an extended visit in the John Tankersly home in Ft. Worth.

Due to the illness of Bro. Don Forrester on Sunday, Bro. Glenn Cunningham of Abilene preached both services at the Baptist Church.

Just heard that Mr. and Mrs. Butch Scott are the proud parents of another red haired boy a little over 4 lbs. and hasn't been named yet, congratulations, Butch and Helen!

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Brown attended the funeral services for Max Holder on Saturday

As It Looks From Here...

Omar Burleson, M. C.
17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D. C. — This first weekly release follows the opening of the 91st Congress on Friday of last week. Once again, please be reminded that this is not intended to be a "professional effort." Rather, it is meant to convey and reflect an attitude in Washington and to elicit reactions. It is hoped, of course, it will be of interest to readers. Any response, including opinions whether in agreement or otherwise, will be welcomed and respected. Anyone wishing to receive a personal copy of this weekly release may write me: Omar Burleson, Member of Congress, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515.

It is natural that speculation be high as to how the new Administration and the new Congress will go about its business. Doubtless, President-elect Nixon is being pulled by numerous cross-currents to take the left of center, the right of center and the center itself, whatever that is.

Since the days of former President Roosevelt's "New Deal," all Administrations have sloganized their programs for the future in inspiring terms. "New Deal," "Fair Deal," "The Team for Peace and Prosperity," "The New Frontier" and, more recently, "The Great Society." Developed in the recent Presidential campaign was Mr. Nixon's "Bring Us Together" and "Forward Together." Whether this will continue to identify his Administration remains to be seen.

From all indications, the new administration will be low-keyed insofar as innovations are concerned, with nothing glamorous or sensational planned for the immediate future. Presumably, efforts will be made to appraise our Country's present situation and to gear actions accordingly. This appears to be wise and is obviously needed.

The Dodo Bird is supposed to fly backwards, interested only in where he has been and not caring where he is going — dumb bird they say. On the other hand, he may be at least half right.

How can we really tell which way we are headed and what lies in front if we ignore conditions created by where we have been. We need to look to our failures and admit them. Politically, we are inclined to look at success and be blinded to all else.

Not all the past is like water over the dam. Problems created by where we have been do not dissolve and flow away, never to be recognized again. Certainly, we have got to have the forward look — the vision about which George Washington spoke. At the same, unless we look back to profit from mistakes and failures, chances are the same mistakes and failures will repeat themselves with greater thrust. Emerson once wrote, "We should have reached a maturity to prove that we are capable of listening not only to what the hours tell us but what the centuries whisper." It would seem that this could be pointed in both directions — for what the centuries have taught us and our responsibility to decades ahead.

It appears that fiscal affairs will hold the center of the stage in this 91st Congress. There is encouragement to be taken from the appearance of deep concern on the part of many Members of Congress for our economic well being. It is assumed that the new Administration shares this concern and will inaugurate the greatest possible efforts to put our financial house in order. We must start from one simple conclusion — that we can not forever continue to spend money we do not have for purposes of doubtful worth, and that day there must be a reckoning.

Government at best is expensive. New programs invite new demands, and new demands invite new programs — one begets the other and, seemingly, there is no end. There is a limit to everything except that which Washington thinks it can provide.

So, the "Greatest Show On Earth" opens another Session. The tent is the same and so are most of the acts. It remains to be seen what sort of a performance will be given in 1969.

HAMLIN HERALD

AUSTIN. — Another legislative session is just around the corner.

Lawn mowers are due back in town Tuesday (January 14) for their 61st biennial meeting, and most observers predict it will be a lively session.

Senators and representatives soon will be bickering mightily over the following and probably hundreds of other less spectacular matters:

Spending and taxation. Nearly everybody is convinced that there will be a big tax bill. But one of those who isn't is none other than Governor-elect Preston Smith. He is hopeful that he won't have to be concerned with a tax program this year. However, there are demands for appropriations increases and school teachers want a $200 million pay raise.

Recommendations of the Governor's Committee on Public School Education, particularly those of district consolidation and tax burden equalization.

Liquor-by-the-drink legislation. What again? This time, apparently, proponents will try the constitutional amendment (let-everybody-vote-on-it) route.

Minimum wage legislation. Constitutional revision. Increasing workman's compensation from $35 to $49 a week maximum and broadening coverage to public employees.

Air and water pollution control measures. Implementing the statewide water plan.

Raising the public welfare spending ceiling. Incoming governor has indicated he will attach personal priority tags to these major program areas: education (with emphasis on vocational and technical training), law enforcement, finance, pollution measures and water matters.

NEW BUDGET PLAN DRAWN — Legislative Budget Board has recommended $1.1 billion in general revenue spending for 1970-71 — about $77 million more than the bare bones minimum level estimated by Gov. John Connally.

LBB calculated its own modest version of appropriations needs would leave $60.7 million in unearmarked general revenue, but that major programs such as implementation of the government's public school study or teacher pay boosts.

Board decided to order a stop to salary supplements for private college officials from private funds and to recommend the state pay whatever is needed to get top men. This would cost about $308,500 a year.

Under LBB proposals the governor would get a pay raise, too, from $40,000 to $55,000 a year. That would keep him ahead of lesser appointed officials, some of whom actually have been paid more than the chief executive considering their incomes from private sources.

Budget proposal also includes $82 million in state office building (to cut down on $1.5 million annual rentals paid by the state to house agencies in Austin) and an $850,000 state records storage center.

TECHNICAL TRAINING BOOSTED — House Education Committee has urged at least $30 million outlay during the next biennium for vocational-technical education in Texas.

HEC, which conducted study and 10 hearings, found that 16 vocational schools should be provided in 10 years to furnish 180 such facilities. It said all private technical and business schools ought to be regulated by the Texas Education Agency and that James Connally Technical Institute at Waco should be operated as a separate entity for training scarce vo-tech instructors and counselors.

WATER HYACINTH ERADICATION — A plant hormone called "2-4-D" will be used in the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department's campaign in the spring to eradicate water hyacinths in the Nueces, Frio and Atascosa Rivers.

Marion Toole of the P & W Department says that state workers, cooperating with the Galveston office of the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers, will apply the hormone when the plants are just beginning active growth. No harmful side effects are expected to result from the program, he said, since "2-4-D" is a hormone, not a poison. "We've sprayed Caddo Lake and areas around Houston and Beaumont," he said, "and never had reports of anything injured."

Toole says that the department plans to carry the program to other areas of the state after the South Texas work. He reports that the department has been getting pressure from Louisiana about its in Texas, this state must the problem with the Sabine, and since the upper Sabine deal with the water hyacinth infestation there before Louisiana can get approval for control where the river link: Texas and Louisiana.

INAUGURATION — During the pre-session lull, secretaries and other workers in the Legislature are busy addressing invitations from Governor-elect Smith and Lt. Gov.-elect Ben Barnes to the January 21 inauguration festivities.

Smith's inauguration promises to be the most public of any such event since Austin became the capital of Texas. He wants everybody to come help him celebrate his assuming the chief executive's office.

Five of the six inaugural balls scheduled are free. The formal ball in Austin's Municipal Auditorium, featuring Henry King and His Orchestra, will be the only one for which admission will be charged.

But the "free" balls sound like more fun. Television Star Jimmy Dean, a native of Plainview, Texas will entertain at each of them. And other famous Texans — Glen Campbell, Buck Owen, Ray Price, Charlie Pride and the Casino Brass — will play for dancing.

COURTS SPEAK — Texas Supreme Court threw out orders of a Shelby County court which attempted to invalidate Department of Public Safety drivers' license suspensions of 83 who did not live in the county.

High court exonerated two Victoria doctors sued by a woman who broke her hip in a fall from a hospital bed af-

New Organization Formed In State to Aid In Brush Control

A new organization has been formed to provide funds for increased research on range improvement and brush invasion of pasture lands, one of the state's major agricultural problems, according to County Agent Kirby Clayton.

The organization, called the Brush Control and Range Improvement Foundation, hopes to obtain one cent per acre from each cooperating landowner each year for five years. Money collected will permit basic research and education on brush control.

Foundation funds will support basic experiments and field trials on the various methods of control. There also will be follow-up studies on range improvement. All such activities will supplement intensive studies already underway at Texas A & M University, Texas Technological College and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

John Matthews, prominent Abilene area rancher, is foundation chairman. Bill Donnell of Marathon is vice chairman and Robb Brown of Tule Wagon is secretary. The group already is selecting district chairmen and county leaders eventually will be named to organize local efforts.

In announcing the foundation's formation, Clayton said that nearly 82 percent of ter electric shock treatments.

SHORT SNORTS All statewide elective officials (except the governor and lieutenant governor) who serve the two-year terms began new terms on January 1.

More got out than in state prisons last year. A total of 5,485 inmates were released (1,921 through parole) while 4,736 were admitted.

Clayton said the program already has the enthusiastic support of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association, Texas Farm Bureau and the Texas Farmers Union. Until now, no organized effort among stockmen has been developed to help in the attack on brush.

FROM THE FILES . . .

FORTY-FIVE YEARS AGO (January 4, 1924)

The young people enjoyed a social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Weathers Tuesday night of this week, being in honor of the recent bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Fomby, who were showered by their friends with many nice and useful household articles.

All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, so on Friday evening, Dec. 28th, the members of the Woman's Literary Club, with their husbands met at the home of Mrs. G. H. Tumlin.

The pupils of Mrs. H. D. Neff's music class were presented in recital at the High School Auditorium. Mrs. Neff's recitals are always pleasing and the splendid work she is doing with the High School Orchestra has added a very attractive feature to the music department of our school.

Swayback women and weak feet are defects of the growing generation, physical examination of 1019 young women students at the State College of Industrial Arts in Denton reveals.

The average height of girls is slightly over five feet, three inches and the average weight is found to be 121.5 pounds.

One of the social events of the holidays was a Social Service Program at the Methodist church, on Dec. 31st, given by the Missionary Societies.

Invitations were sent to all the Methodist women and girls, but due to the extreme cold weather there were only twenty present.

TWENTY YEARS AGO (January 14, 1949)

Miss Jessie Myers, widely known as a horsewoman will represent Stamford in the annual Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth Jan. 29th.

Harley Sadler, former member of the state legislature was guest speaker at the Wednesday noon meeting of the Hamlin Rotary Club.

Overpowered by an inspired Pierce, the Hamlin Pipers cager team lost to the Anson cagers last Friday night 49 to 37. Pierce made 30 of Anson's points.

Carl Murrell, Hamlin Chevrolet dealer, left Wednesday for Dallas where he attended a meeting of dealers and was given a preview of the 1949 model Chevrolet car.

Hamlin's volunteer firemen met last Thursday for their annual business session and an oyster supper.

The firemen elected officers to serve during the coming year.

Howard Nall was named president; Bill Milliron, vice president; L. J. Cunningham, secretary; Weldon Hudson, assistant secretary. W. T. "Mickey" McGuire was reelected fire chief.

Hamlin was virtually cut off from the world for three days this week as driving sleet and snow blanketed highways and roads with a heavy film of glazed ice and nearly all traffic was suspended.

A power failure, attributed to the heavy coating of ice on highline wires caused frequent interruption of electric service here Tuesday, and Hamlin was without electricity from shortly before nine o'clock Wednesday until after 3:00 p.m.

Officers for the new year were named at a meeting of the Hamlin Literary Club in the home of Mrs. Art Carmichael last Friday.

Officers chosen are Mrs. Thomas Ferguson, president; Mrs. Ernest Jenkins, first vice president; Mrs. Clyde Angel, second vice president; Mrs. Jimmy Simmons, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Stanley Carmichael, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John Howard Jr., treasurer; Mrs. John F. Green Jr., parliamentarian; Mrs. H. O. Cassle, librarian and Mrs. Bill Shira, reporter. Mrs. Dick Maberry was accepted as a new member of the club.

TEN YEARS AGO (January 8, 1959)

Record cold spell for the Hamlin territory was recorded over the week-end. A low reading of three above zero was recorded at the Santa Fe Railway depot in South Hamlin at 3:00 a.m. Sunday.

Stage is set for a good meal, big crowd and an interesting program tomorrow (Friday) evening at the Hamlin High School gymnasium when the annual membership banquet of the Board of Community Development will be held. Crowd of about 400 is expected at the gathering.

With a record number of entries posted by Jones County club boys and girls, the annual Jones County Club Livestock Show was primed this week for a startling display of livestock and poultry Saturday at Stamford, T. C. Blankinship, v. a teacher declared. There are 700 entries competing for the $1,200 cash awards and trophies.

Sale of the Limit Cafe, operated for many years by Mr. and Mrs. Lee Burrell was consummated over the week-end.

"Whatsoever Things"

By DONALD E. WILDMON

MINISTER
LEE ACRES UNITED METHODIST CHURCH
TUPELO, MISSISSIPPI

(A doctor writes: "I just bought your book about one this afternoon, and I have to make myself put it down to see my patients. It is fascinating and your style delightful." For your copy of Mr. Wildmon's book, send $2.95 to Five Star Publishers, Box 1985, Tupelo, Miss.)

Thomas Carlyle lived from 1795 until 1881. He was a Scot essayist and historian. During his lifetime he became one of the world's greatest writers. But he was a human and humans make mistakes.

On October 17, 1826, Carlyle married his secretary Jane Welsh. She was an intelligent, attractive and somewhat temperamental daughter of a well-to-do doctor. They had their quarrels and misunderstandings, but still loved each other dearly. After their marriage, Jane continued to serve as his secretary. After several years of marriage, Jane became ill. Being a hard worker, Carlyle became so absorbed in his writings that he let Jane continue working for several weeks after she became ill. She had cancer, and it was one of the slow growing kind. Finally, she became confined to her bed. Although Carlyle loved her dearly, he very seldom found time to stay with her long. He was busy with his work.

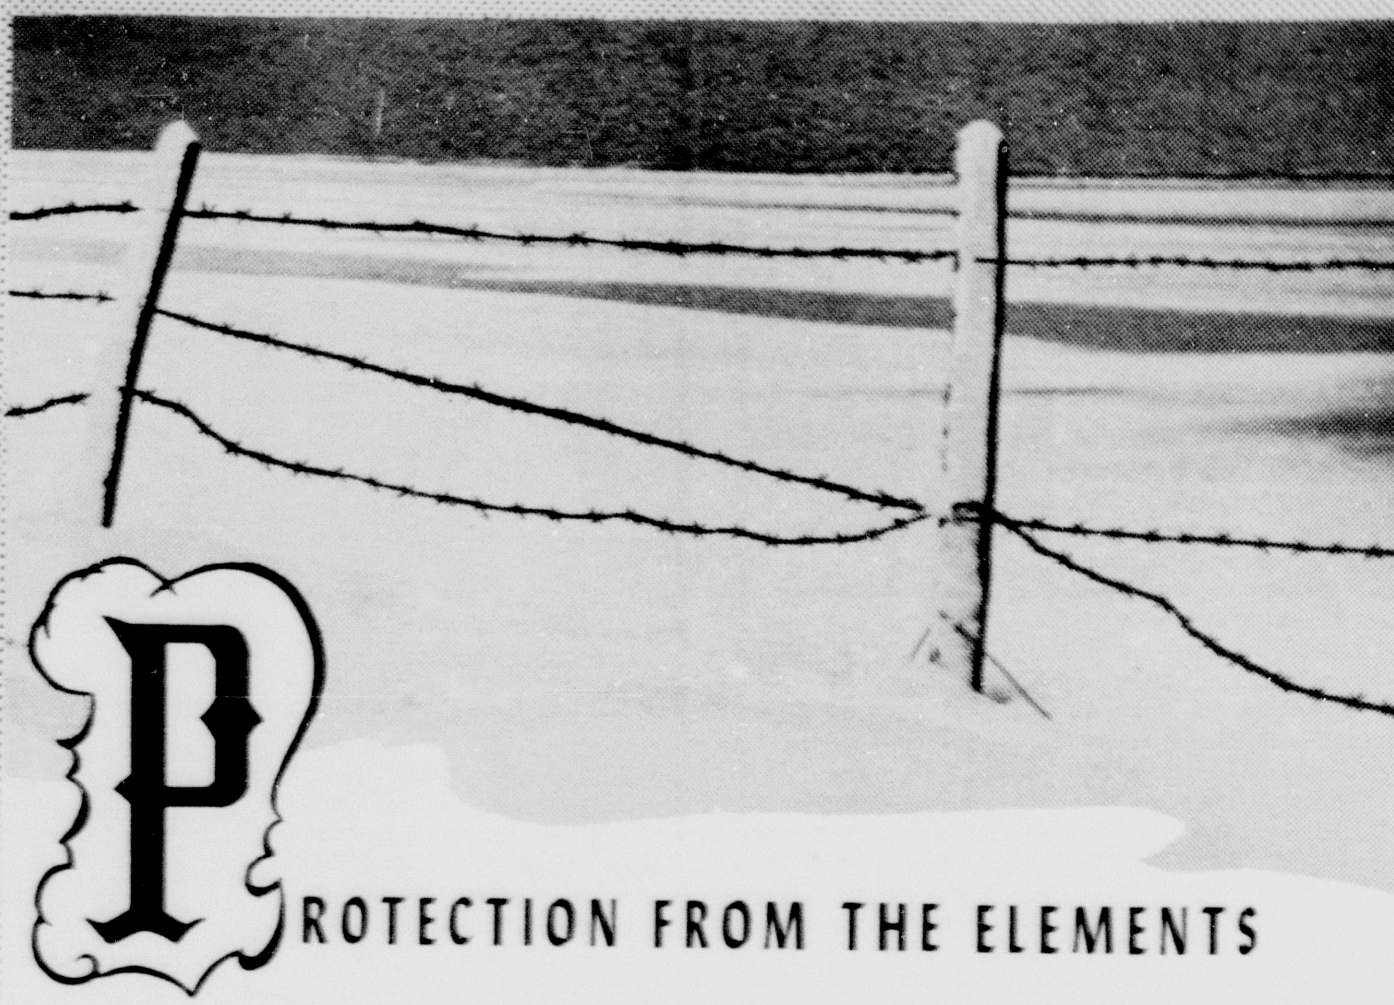

When Jane died they carried her to the cemetery for the service. The day was a miserable day. It was raining hard and the mud was deep. Following the funeral Carlyle went back to his home. He was taking it pretty hard. He went up the stairs to Jane's room and sat down in the chair next to her bed. He sat there thinking about how little time he had spent with her and wishing so much he had a chance to do it differently. Noticing her diary on a table beside the bed, he picked it up and began to read it. Suddenly he seemed shocked. He saw it. There, on one page, she had written a single line. "Yesterday he spent an hour with me and it was like heaven; I love him so." Something dawned on him that he had not noticed before. He had been too busy to notice that he meant so much to her. He thought of all the times he had gone about his work without thinking about and noticing her.

Then Carlyle turned the page in the diary. There he noticed written some words that broke his heart. "I have listened all day to hear his steps in the hall, but now it is late and I guess he won't come today." Carlyle read a little more in the book. Then he threw it down and ran out of the house. Some of his friends found him at the grave, his face buried in the mud. His eyes were red from weeping. Tears continued to roll down his cheeks. He kept repeating over and over again, "If I had only known, if I had only known." But it was too late for Carlyle. She was dead.

After Jane's death, Carlyle made little attempt to write again. The historian said he lived another 15 years, "weary, bored and a partial recluse." I tell the story with the hope that you will not make the same mistake. While our loved ones must have the money we make to live, it is the love we have that they really want. Give it now before it is too late.

—FIVE STAR FEATURES

PROTECTION FROM THE ELEMENTS

It has been said in the Lone Star State that there is nothing between Texas and the North Pole but a barbed wire fence. That certainly gives you the idea that in Texas you're not given much protection from the cold North wind.

There are times when you might think there is no protection and comfort afforded from the hardness and cruelty of the world. But there is a buffer between you and the world. This help and protection is the church. As members of the church, you are with good people of like minds who love you, pray with you, comfort you and assist you. They are the ones who "by love serve one another." (Gal. 5:13)

We invite you to attend the church of your choice this week. You will find a warm welcome there.

"And this commandment we have from him, that he who loveth God love his brother also."

I John 4:21

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

No animal that roams the woods commands as much respect as Mr. Skunk. Since he is blessed with perhaps the best defense system of any creature, both man and animal give him plenty of room.

That is, all except the great horned owl. This animal, now and then, enjoys dining on tasty skunk. Obviously, the owl has no sense of smell and could care less about the odor.

But all other animals treat the skunk with great respect. And well they should! Any animal that strays close is likely to be spewed with that strong-smelling, familiar odor that can linger for weeks. Give the enraged skunk a wide berth.

His defense system consists of a pair of scent sacs located at the skunk's rear. There is one on each side of the rectum. They are embedded in powerful muscles which, when constricted, can spray the strong "perfume" for 16 feet or more. This yellow liquid is deadly at 10 feet and dangerous at almost twice that distance.

Contrary to what you might have heard, just because a skunk has unloaded at you once doesn't mean he is out of ammunition.

A skunk can fire six consecutive times without reloading. Although the initial burst may be only three or four drops, that's enough to douse an animal or man with enough odor to last for a couple of weeks or longer, especially in damp weather.

Nature has a way of taking care of her young. With the skunk, the smelly spray is his only defense. Otherwise, he is a timid creature that roams mostly at night. It isn't unusual to find skunks after dark downtown in some of our largest cities.

Although there are several species of skunk, the most common is the black one with the broad white stripe running down his back the full length of his body and tail.

There is no surefire method of removing this tell-tale skunk odor. His spray contains an ingredient chemically known as nu-butyl mercaptan. It contains sulphur. One of the best antidotes, I'm told, is washing the recipient in liberal amounts of tomato juice.

As for doused clothing, about the only alternative is to either burn or bury them. Even then some of the odor seems to linger on. When it comes to smell, nothing can compare to the skunk.

In Texas, skunks breed in either February or March. After a gestation period of 63 days, a litter is born. Usually they number from three to seven small skunks, with the average being about five. The young remain in the nest until their eyes are open and they are strong enough to follow their mother.

Although most people take the not realize that he plays an important skunk for granted, the majority do role in pest control. In "The Mammals of Texas" (published by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department), Dr. William B. Davis points out that some 76 percent of the skunk's diet is composed of various insects. Balance of his diet usually is made up of small rodents like mice and rats.

Although skunks occasionally may feed on the eggs of wild birds, such as those laid by quail and wild turkeys, there is no evidence that the harm they cause in this respect is major. Their usefulness in keeping the woods clean of pest insects and mice far overshadows any harm they might cause.

Conclusion: A skunk, even with his bad odor, is better than no skunk at all.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

REMOVING ARROW TIPS

To remove hunting points from arrows, just heat the point over a flame. The wood inside the point will char, then the tip can be pulled right off the shaft by means of a simple twist with a pair of pliers.

HOT WATER FOR SHAVING

Need some hot water for shaving in camp but you don't want to take the trouble to build a fire? Just run your outboard motor for a few moments, then collect the warmed water coming from the water pump exhaust.

HOT NAIL—HOT POTATO

To quick-cook potatoes in camp, try this little trick. Put an ordinary six-penny nail almost through the spud. While baking, the steel carries the heat and cooks the potatoes on the inside while the outside is being done.

ADDS MORE LIFE TO BAIT

Want to give your bait more lifelike action while you're sitting back and taking life easy? Just cut a piece of cardboard and slot it to attach it to the line. The wind catches the cardboard sail and moves the bait.

QUICKIE ANTISEPTIC

Got a nasty cut in camp and no antiseptic handy? Most modern toothpastes contain high-powered, effective germicides. Smear some on the cut. Danger of infection goes down.

RAILROAD SPIKES FOR TENT STAKES

Driving wooden tent stakes into hard ground is tough. Rustle up a set of old railroad spikes. The lip won't let the tent ropes slip off and you'll never bend them driving 'em in hard dirt.

CORK KEEPS CALL CLEAN

If your game calls get filled up with pieces of dust and tobacco from your pockets, try sticking a cork in the bugle end. Keeps one clean.

COWBELLS FOR KIDS

If you're taking your kids to camp or on a bankside fishing trip, try this trick used by hunting-dog owners. Attach a small, sturdy bell on the back of the child's jacket. Then as he moves about you can hear him heading for trouble and forestall.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Moving Day

What to take with you when you move out of a rented house or apartment, is not only a question of space in the moving van. It is also a question of law. Which things belong to you, which to the landlord?

Obviously, equipment he supplied when you moved in—usually shown on an inventory list—is still his. But what about things you yourself added during your stay, like curtains and bookshelves?

As a general rule, you are indeed entitled to take out whatever you put in. The basis for this rule is "probable intention." The law feels that a tenant's intention in making improvements is usually to make his own occupancy more enjoyable, not to better the landlord's real estate.

But the opposite intention is possible too. Take this case:

A woman tenant, moving out of a rented bungalow, wanted to dig up the shrubs she had planted in the back yard. But a court held she had no right to do so, because the usual intention in planting shrubs is to let them stay.

"They are dependent upon the soil in which they are placed for their very existence," said the court, "and are of course a part of the realty."

Besides intention, the law will also weigh a second factor: the method by which the item is attached to the premises. The slier the attachment, the stronger the tenant's right of removal.

Thus, a tenant who installed a gas stove was allowed to take it out because it could be disassembled simply by loosening a single screw, with no harm at all to the property. But another tenant was not allowed to take out linoleum, cemented down so tightly that removing it would have ruined the floor.

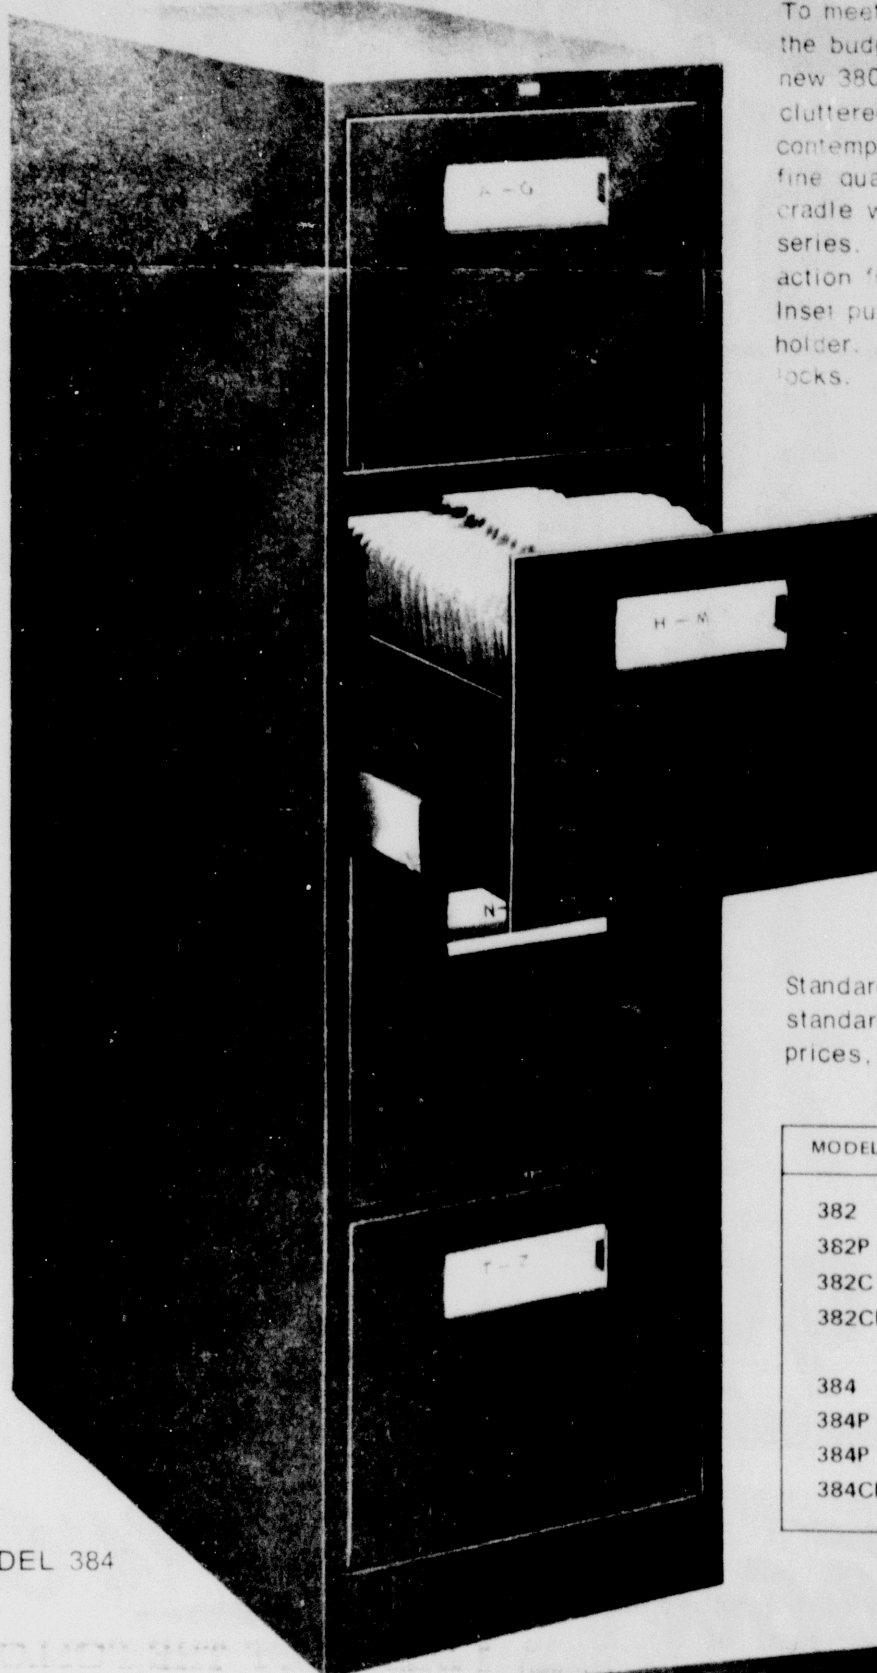

Of course, the same item might be attached in different ways. The old-fashioned bathtub, standing free on its own legs, was ordinarily removable by the tenant who put it in. But not the modern bathtub, solidly built into place.

If a tenant has doubts about the right of removal, he ought to seek an understanding with his landlord before the improvement is put in. At that time, the chances of a friendly agreement are a lot better than they will be on moving day.

THE HAMLIN HERALD

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hunt received word Saturday night of the death of a brother-in-law, Clemon Agnew of Cisco. Mr. Agnew died of an apparent heart-attack. The Agnews are former residents of this community. Their son, Walter Bob, or "Pete" as he was known by his friends here, died a few years ago.

Did you know that: Red squirrels are very jealous and regard each other as possible enemies. They guard their food cache at all times against brotherly theft.

The fighting bonefish can take off as much as 1,000 feet of line in as little as 18 inches of water on its initial run.

Although most hoofed animals have four toes on each foot, the antelope has only two.

Alligator gar, found in most

Texas waters, and all southern states, attain a maximum length of 10 feet and sometimes 300 pounds in weight.

According to biologists, the gray fox is the only fox that will climb a tree.

Under federal law all pistols with shoulder stocks, having a barrel length less than 16 inches, are illegal.

Fish most suitable for freezing are those which contain the least amount of fat.

Mortality rate of the cottontail rabbit is very high. It has only about one chance in 20 of becoming one year old.

It is estimated that there are more than 8 million pleasure boats on the nation's waterways. About half of them are stored in the home garage.

Switzerland has solved the gun ownership problem. Under the Swiss Constitution every mature male is issued a gun, which he must keep at home.
